Overview

This course satisfies the Government Department’s Senior Seminar requirement. Each week we will discuss various aspects of the U.S. Education system and the political decisions that influence education outcomes. In the final weeks of the course, we will incorporate some international perspectives into our discussions of the politics of unequal education.

Objectives:

By the end of this course students will be able to:

- describe education conditions and how they vary.
- identify how political decisions influence education outcomes.
- evaluate the causes of education outcomes (both positive and negative).
- discuss controversial issues in a critical and constructive way.

Texts

- Suzanne Mettler. 2014. Degrees of Inequality: How the Politics of Higher Education Sabotaged the American Dream

Office Hours

- Wed. 2:00–4:30pm and by appointment
- You may sign up for office hours here: http://www.wejoinin.com/sheets/qcrna
Evaluation

Your performance in this class will be assessed as follows:

- Class Participation 20%
- Synthesis Papers 20%
- Reaction Papers 20%
- Research Paper 40%

Synthesis Papers

To each class, bring a 1 to 2 page (double spaced) paper that synthesizes the readings. The paper needs a thesis statement and the readings should support the thesis statement.

Reaction Papers

Two reaction papers are due during the semester. These papers are 5 to 7 pages long (double spaced). The papers should make a novel argument based on the previous weeks’ readings. This paper may largely relate to a single week or multiple weeks.

Research Paper

The research paper is a 15 to 20 page paper (double spaced) on any topic of your choosing that relates to the course. We will discuss details in the coming weeks.
